State of West Virginia Awards 3-Year, Projected $6 Million Contract for Long Distance Services to Method One in Conjunction with TouchTone Communications

Whippany, NJ (April 2, 2008) – In a competitive bid, Method One, in conjunction with TouchTone Communications, was recently awarded a contract by the State of West Virginia to provide long distance services to all participating state, county, and local agencies and political subdivisions.

Method One, a local West Virginia vendor and TouchTone Channel Partner, outbid several leading service providers to secure the three-year, projected $3.6-$6 million agreement to manage all intrastate, interstate and international calling, dedicated T1 services, calling card, toll free, and directory assistance solutions. Additionally, the companies will be responsible for training, provisioning, activations, billing, and customer service support.

“Our agents are our driving force. We do everything in our power to ensure their success,” said Steve Kaplan, TouchTone’s Agent Development Manager. “This contract further demonstrates TouchTone’s commitment to both our Agents and customers to deliver professional, reliable services at the very best prices.”

Under this agreement participants benefit from the negotiated low rates and services regardless of public role, size, or location.
